She will if she wants to,
but oh if she don't!

William Bartels
Time? That's nothing to me.

Charles Bergland Quietly and calmly he comes and goes; he never expresses all he knows.

Petty Brandenburger
I was born to laugh and laugh
I must.

Laurence Barton
Worry kills men — why die?

Emil Cherney
A ready philosopher, early and late. If a line were crooked, he'd argue it straight.

Calvin Dathe
There is a guy who is staunch and true. Who's always around when there's work to do.

Anna Mae Davis
The present interests me more than the past, and the future more than the present.

Kathey Dobler
Whoever thinks of going to bed before twelve o'clock is a scoundrel.

Darlene Dathe
It is foolish to tear ones hair as though madness would be made less by baldness.

Lowell Edwards
I'm satisfied because I'm me.

Larry Gatz
Sometimes I sit and think,
and sometimes I just sit.

LaVetta Gerling
Smiling and cheerful, always the same.

LaVanna Gerling
Life is short so let's be

Karen McShane
She's Irish, completely!

Loretta Meidinger
Of even temper, naturally good.

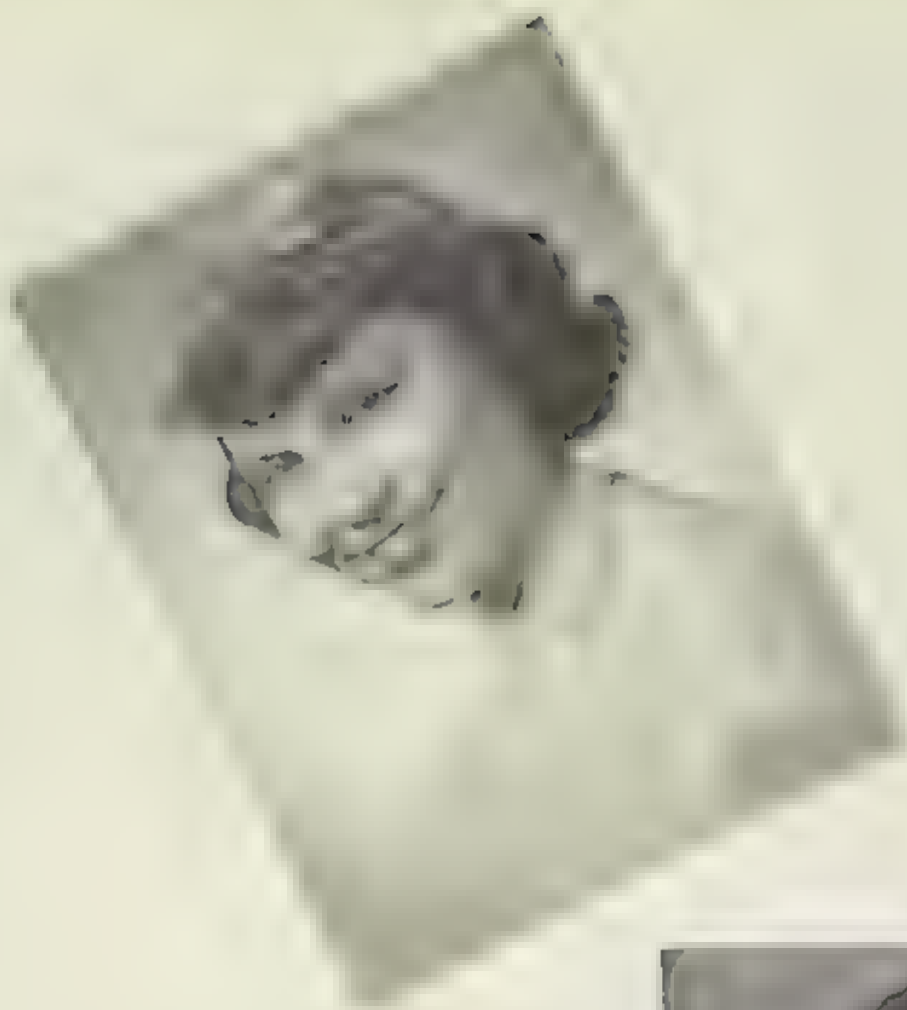

Harriet Mock
What is this life if, full of care we have no time to stand and stare?

Marlene Morgan
Melodramatic! Not I!!

John Mow
He doesn't let anything
interfere with his education, not even his studies.

Jean Murray
Choose your love and then love your choice.

Delbert Nelson
For he by geometric scale
Could take the size of pots of ale.

Carmen Phillips
A joke is a very serious thing.

Barbara Pomplun
If you cannot make a man
think as you do, make him do as you think.

Keith Noess
They never taste who always drink. They always talk who never think.

One can be a soldier without dying, and a lover without sighing.

Beverly Schaunaman
Live, love, and learn.

Harriet Schaller
Oh, why should life all labor be?

Marlene Schaller
Success comes in cans.
Failure comes in can'ts.

Bob Schaller
Anyone got a comb? I've got a curl out of place.

Priscilla Schuldheisz
Early to bed and early to rise and you'll miss a lot of interesting things that don't go on in the daytime.

Harlen Stahlecker
Love 'em and leave 'em.

Gary Stucker
There must be some hard work in him — none ever came out!

LaPalma Tiegs Man has his will, but woman has her way.

Jack Van Sickle
I'm a big boy now.

Adeline Veland
Life's no longer if we hurry.
Life's no better if we hurry.

Class History

The discovery of the famous class of 1951 was an accident. Four years ago, early one morning on the fifth of September, 1950, we made our humble beginnings as freshmen, and faculty of E.H.S. got their first look at all forty-seven of us. Our class officers for the first semester were Harlen Stallecker, president; LaPalma Tiegs, vice-president; JoAnn Woodward, secretary; and Kathey Lotler, treasurer. For the second semester we elected Shirley Aberle, president; Robert Schaller, vice-president; Flondell Zimmerman, secretary; and Anna Mae Davis, treasurer. Karen McShane and LaPalma Tiegs were chosen as cheerleaders. Mr. Wilson was our class advisor. We had several parties and went to Lake Richmond for our class picnic.

On September 4, 1952, forty-nine well acquainted sophomores squeezed into Senior High, and on October 2 we got what we were looking for — initiation. The class officers were Delbert Nelson, president; Lowell Edwards, vice-president; Flondell Zimmerman, secretary; and Harlen Stallecker, treasurer. Under the guidance of Mr. Shelver we had our annual picnic at Lake Richmond.

Fifty juniors come back to finish an exciting year at E.H.S. We elected Ned Leiby, president; Delbert Nelson, vice-president; Shirley Hill, secretary; and Melvin Zinter, treasurer. Miss Ansrud was our advisor. Under the direction of Miss Ansrud we successfully presented "Professor How Could You", our junior class play.

After a lot of hard work we put on our magnificent show the Junior-Senior Banquet and Prom in May. Our "Parisian" theme was completed with the music of John Taylor and his orchestra.

Flondell Zimmerman, Kathey Lotler, and Mary Ann McClellan were initiated into the Keystone Society.

Due to a conflict with other activities, we were unable to have a class picnic.

On September 7, 1953, we arrived at the dizzy height we now occupy as seniors. Out of the forty-six graduating, eleven started here in the first grade.

We elected as our class officers Larry Wilbur, president; Ned Leiby, vice-president; Shirley Aberle, secretary; and Flondell Zimmerman, treasurer. Mr. Ingvalson was our class advisor.

Our first official job was to show our kindness to the dear sophs by initiating them. Then the senior girls put on the annual Senior Girls Speech Program.

We took on the responsibility of editing the "Cardinal" and put on "The Little Minister" for our senior play.

On May 28 we graduate from dear old E.H.S. and we wish to thank all the members of the faculty for helping us to get the foundation which we will need.

Class Prophecy

The year is 1934. Lulama Lee, and I, Karen McGhane, are taking an imaginary trip around the country visiting our classmates.

Our first stop is at Aberdeen, South Dakota, at a well-known drug store, Wallgreen's. To our amazement the waiter is none other than Kelly, who has been working there for several years. As we walk out the door a new sign is shouting, "Extra! Extra! Learning to rollers (artistic roller skating)." We buy a paper and find that Lulama, the youngest sister, has called a strike of the roller skaters. Lulama, a physical culturist, is now a cross-country tour of the nation giving speeches at every whistle stop. On another page is a large ad sponsored by John Schaller, who has already made his first million. The ad reads, "Win $1,000. Complete this line in 2 words or less. 'John Schaller is a better dancer than Arthur Murray because _____'."

On our way through Indiana we run into Gary Stichter, who has given up his mechanic career, and is now the main Barker for Harriet Schaller traveling flea circus.

We eat our first dinner at the Park Club in New York. Before our meal is half devoured, Lulama lets out a blood-curling scream; I turn around and see hot coffee trickling down her back, and standing behind her, looking very much ashamed, is Earl Cierney, all decked out in a tuxedo. He apologizes profusely — in French, with just then the curtain goes up, and here we find Marlene (at the wearing a silver black evening gown and romantically singing the latest song, "I can't get my foot off the rail," while her brother Calvin gives the song a work-out on the musical piano.

Here also we find Marlene Morgan, who is manufacturing facial cosmetics — it seems she thought it was much cheaper that way. Also her future husband owns a mirror factory.

We also visit Yvonne Phillips, noted author of the current best seller, "How to Get Your Man," but I have read the book and am still single.

Next we set out for Albany, New York, where Larry Katz, one of our more settled classmates, is teaching English.

We stop in at the Kentucky Derby, and to our surprise we find Lawrence Barton is the leading jockey there. Leaving Lawrence with his horses, we immediately go to Hollywood to see Hedda Lerger. Just as we suspected, Carmen Phillips in disguise. We promise not to ruin her career if she will help us find some of our classmates. "Hedda" also informs us that Larry Wilber is in Hollywood judging beauty contests. We are informed that he is very fond of his job.

Our next stop is at the nation's capital, where we find Betty Brandenburger as North Dakota's first lady senator. Beth Asmore is visiting with Betty. Beth is a famous hillbilly singer on Station F U in Tennessee, starring with the "Horchkey Five."

Now as we drive along, our radio announces that the winner of the Edie Fisher runner-up contest is Jerry Lautt.

Walter Winchell, also announces that Marlen Starlecker, who is running a close second to Tommy Manville, is just marrying his eleventh wife today.

On our way to Miami, Florida, we stop to pick up a hitchhiker. What a surprise to find it to be Lowell Edwards. He says he is slumming, but we wonder. Also, at Miami we visit the crowning of Miss Florida, the bathing beauty. Keith Moss certainly looks flattering in a two-piece bathing suit, doesn't he?

That night as we are leaving Florida, we stop at a gaily lighted little hotel, called Club 24 (24-hour service). This is the place we have been looking for because two of our classmates are operating here. Sure enough, we find, seated at a large desk, co-owners Marlene Schaller and Harriet Mock. Later on that evening we stop at Key West to see the famous gambling ships. As we walk in the door we see JoAnn Woodward just bouncing John Mow overboard for having an ace up his sleeve.

Our next stop is Miami. While we are reading a daily paper, we learn of the tragic death of Shirley Aberle. Earlier, it seems, she became an airline stewardess and the pilot had some sort of a reaction that she never knew whether they were in the air or on the ground. Her stomach hit through the floor while they were in mid-air. The pilot was charged with negligence.

Lafalma and I start down the main drag to school, and we run into Mother Lister on one of the corners. She informed us that she is the school nurse at the veterans' hospital here — it seems she just can't get the hospital business out of her system.

We have just entered the elevator of a large department store, when the operator turns around and greets us. Who is it? Never mind, she tells us she has given us her search for her 'one and only' and is happy at her present lot.

On the road once more, we turn on the radio to hear the voice of one of our classmates talking out, "one, two, three, four, on your toes, chest out, shoulders back," etc. After a while the voice says, "This is Mary Ann McFellian, telling all you chatty ladies who want to lose your excess fat to listen in again tomorrow when I again broadcast my daily exercises, same time, same station."

Our next stop is at the University of North Dakota. Just as we have heard, Loretta Meiderer is teaching physical education there. Just then we see a professor walking down the hall. We think he looks familiar. Sure enough, it is Herbert Nelson. Herbert informs us that Elmerell Chamberlain is superintendent of the Fairview Hospital there.

The next day we decide to go shopping. As we are walking by the Montgomery Store, we see a crowd of people inside. So we go in to find out what is going on. Much to our surprise we see Miss La Bellinger modeling a pair of men's overalls.

We leave Minneapota on Sunday. We have just got out of Minneapolis and are well on our way, when we have car trouble. Oh no, we are out of gas, but luckily enough there just happens to be a big ranch near-by. As we are waiting in the yard, whom should we see but Jack Van Dickie relaxing under a tree in the front yard. Jack tells us that Billy Carters is running a dairy farm right down the road. After Jack has given us a hearty supply of gas, he tells us that Charles Berland and Robert Jury are teaching at Delano, Minnesota, with Jury coaching and Berland teaching mathematics.

Nearing Sioux Falls, South Dakota, we decide to stop for refreshment. So I have Lafalma read the advertisements. All of a sudden she reads, "La's Bachelor Home" — 13 Schenck Ave. We drive over and find Barbara looking very settled and happy. We decide to come back later and talk as she is having a WCTU meeting. Who should her janitor be? None other than Gus Hagen!

Nearing home we stop at Frederick, where we visit Aveline Veland, who is living on a farm near Frederick.

As usual, I am giving directions, and we must have taken the wrong road, as we wind up on the outskirts of Melph. Taking Lafalmas' advice, we are finally on the right road nearing home. As we drive along, we see the home of Anna Mae Davis, who lives on a chicken farm with her husband a little way from Melph. (chickens aren't the only things she is raising by the looks of her clothes line.) We're now approaching Silverleaf, just eight miles from Ellendale. Here is the home of the famous Leity Clinic. I don't know if Ned has much outside business but he certainly has a blonde chorus line of his own.

Nearing town we hear wedding bells! It is a double wedding. The girls are none other than Jeanne Murray and Wilma Radke.

Tired and exhausted from a long but enjoyable trip, I let Lafalma off at trailer town. Guess who is hanging out the wash!!!

Leaving Lafalma I drive out to the municipal airport and from there I pilot my plane back to the Riviera, where I plan to bask in the sun for the rest of my life. P.S. On my arrival at the Riviera, whom should I find but a stow-away — Lowell Edwards. He says he's still slumming.

Class Will

We, the members of the Senior Class of Ellendale High School of 1944, having been thoroughly examined and tested by capable psychiatrists and brain specialists and pronounced reasonably sane and able to negotiate such an important and vital document, do upon our leave from this brain-working plant, declare this to be our last will and testament.

Item I

We bequeth to our parents all our gratitude for trying hard to bring us up as ladies and gentlemen.

Item II

To our beloved faculty we bequeth all the amazing knowledge of startling information that we have furnished them from time to time in our various examination papers. We trust they will also feel at perfect liberty to make use of all such bits of wisdom and enlightenment for the education of the classes to come after us.

Item III

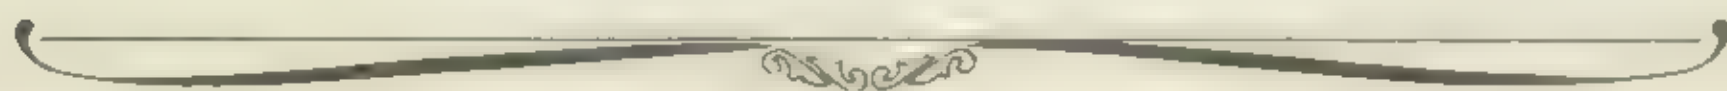

To the juniors we leave some of the clandestine habits in which we have indulged during class time; namely: gum-chewing, writing love notes, flirting, snickering, deaf-and-dumb signaling and many, many others. Only one caution: they are possible sources of great danger.

Item IV

To the sophomores we will our great success in planning the junior-senior banquet and prom and our very studious abilities.

Item V

To the freshmen we leave our ability to stay in school and work hard for four years.

Item VI

We as individuals bequeath the following:

I, Shirley Aberle leave my excess weight to Veronica Bender.

I, Beth Ashmore leave my blonde hair to Elaine Hanson. I think you'll like the change.

I, Hilley Bartels will my classroom solemnity to John Crabtree.

I, Lawrence Barton will my curly locks to Gordon Pomplun.

I, Chuck Bergland leave his fine English marks to Helen Sharp, in hopes that it will get her somewhere.

I, Betty Brandenburger leave my ready laugh to all shy, timid, incoming freshmen.

I, Emil Cherney will my self-made rut between the school and the corner store to Carl Rekow and his two feet.

I, Calvin Dathe will my bashfulness to Pat Ashmore.

I, Darlene Dathe will my ability to get along with teachers to Dorothy Schaller so it won't take her five years to finish high school.

I, Anna Mae Davis leave my collection of sweaters to the freshmen girls.

I, Kathy Dotler leave my ability to come in at sunrise to the curfew-bound students of E. H. S.

I, Lowell Edwards offer my amazing endurance gained by long daily walks in the hall to John Combillick.

I, Larry Gatz leave my artistic ability to any underclassmen who will take it.

I, LaVetta Gerling leave my handbags and contents to Caroline Zinter.

I, LaVanna Gerling leave my devilish grin to Bobby Donahue, so that he can get away with murder.

I, Larry Hagen leave my diamond to anyone whom it will fit.

I, Yvonne Hillius will my hours of loyalty and service to next years alto.

I, Bob Jury leave my business trips to Aberdeen to someone who has a car.

I, Donna Kelly leave my ability to stay up nights to Lorraine Pomplun.

I, Jerry Lautt leave my reputation as a careful driver to Rosemary Bobzien.

I, Ned Leiby have only one thing willable, Beatrice Hokana, and I have no plans to lose her.

I, Mary Ann McClellan leave my lovely long fingernails to anyone who can find them.

I, Karen McShane leave my shy retiring manners to Janet Rogers.

I, Loretta Meidinger will my athletic ability to Marjorie Gress.

I, Harriet Mock leave my nickname "Duz" to anyone who gets the connection. Could it be "Duz does everything"?

I, Marlene Morgan leave my love for costume jewelry to Marilyn Rowe.
